A Fireside Chat WITH FDR

What are the highlights of the past year?

This has been a great year for us; we have seen some major accomplishments. Due to the hard work of our Admissions Office and the framework they have put in place, our freshman enrollment is up by 4%, and freshman to sophomore year retention increased 12%. The fruits of our labors have shown in the recognition of our value. We made it to number nine in US News & World

Report's Top 10 "Best Value" Midwestern College. For the seventh straight year in a row, we made the Top 25 in the Princeton Review's "Best Regional Colleges." They chose us mainly for our excellent academic programs, which is a testament to the quality of our students and faculty. We received a $10 million dollar anonymous gift to be paid over a period of 10 years, and also the Waugh gift, which is farmland with a $40 million dollar value. Looking ahead, the new edition of the Strategic Plan will be a springboard to the future, capitalizing on all the good things that have happened in this fiscal year.

other competing demands. We cannot relax in pursuit of fundraising and support if we want to build upon our foundation to provide services, resources, and activities that will help our students to achieve.

How do we express the value of the academic quality that our College offers?

As I mentioned in my first interview with Contact, we must spread the message of value. One of our biggest challenges is getting the word out about who we are and what we do, and why someone would want to be a part of it. But now the question is – how do we get the word out? Saint Joseph's College was recently named a Top 10 "Best Value" Midwestern

Now that we've received the $40 million dollar Waugh gift, are we well positioned for the future?

Like those students and graduates of SJC profiled in this issue of Contact, we have overcome hardships and have bridged the gap between adversity and a strong foundation. We are now well positioned to weather the economy in a way that some other institutions have not been fortunate enough to do. We have turned a corner, but this is not the end of fundraising. Focusing on what's central to our mission, we have allocated the income generated from the Waugh gift to invest in student scholarships and need-based aid. However, we also have many

ENDURING VALUE OF LIBERAL ARTS

According to a survey by the Association of American Colleges and Universities, “Employers want colleges to place more emphasis on improving students’ written and oral communication, critical thinking...and capacity to analyze and solve complex problems.”

College. You can only get so far with rankings. We must think about how we make this value meaningful to people—for prospective students, current students, and for parents. One of our most acute challenges is describing what happens in Core. Given the competitive advantage that Core provides our students, it is critical that we communicate its value. The question of how needs to be posed to everyone involved with the institution with the understanding that we establish an ongoing dialogue. We seek a collective response, because the expression of our academic quality lives most meaningfully within the experiences of those who have been educated through Core. Each individual provides a different expression of Core, and like a stained glass window, the mosaic is what we want people to see. This is what will distinguish us from other small, private, liberal arts colleges.

What can we expect from the Strategic Plan?

The Strategic Plan is the next step in enacting our vision for the institution. It was reviewed by the Board of Trustees in October. We have goals that include enrollment, retention, academics, student life, and outreach. One of the most important goals is to increase enrollment. We also want to improve things for current students so that they’re satisfied with their educational experience. Students are why we exist. A major goal in the area of academics is to prepare for and gain Higher Learning Commission reaccreditation for 10 years. In February 2012, the HLC of the North Central Association will evaluate SJC for reaffirmation of the College’s accreditation. The HLC review will ask if we are doing what our mission says we exist to do. They will want evidence that there is an understanding of the mission on campus and that support for the mission pervades the organization. Communication and transparency have to be pillars of the way we do business. It is critical that we continue to communicate to everyone associated with Saint Joseph’s College the importance of adherence to our mission and that it drives all of our work, in and out of the classroom.

Alumnus Forms Bond with Former GUANTÁNAMO BAY CAPTIVES

On Friday, July 16th, three Christian activists left the United States for Bermuda. Although Bermuda is a popular vacation spot, the purpose of this trip was not to sprawl out in the sun. Instead, Luke Hansen, S.J. '04 joined Dr. Jeremy Kirk and Catholic youth minister John Bambrick for the opportunity to meet four former Guantánamo Bay detainees. It was a trip Hansen won't soon forget.

The former Guantánamo captives are Uyghurs, a persecuted ethnic group from western China. Because of their struggles with unemployment in their homeland, some of them traveled to Afghanistan to find work. In October of 2001, the United States started bombing Afghanistan. The workers were promised a safe place in Pakistan but were handed over to the U.S., which paid $5,000 for the men thinking they had ties to Al Qaeda. The four men who Hansen would later meet were detained in Guantánamo Bay for seven years before the Bush administration conceded that the men were not enemy combatants. A federal judge ruled their release in October 2008, and they were resettled in Bermuda.

Hansen came about the opportunity to meet the men through the organization Witness Against Torture, which began in 2005 when 25 Americans went to Guantánamo Bay and attempted to visit the detention facility. The group aims to build awareness about torture and indefinite detention amongst Americans and forge human ties with the prisoners at Guantánamo and their families. Hansen also wrote about Guantánamo Bay as part of his master's thesis, titled "Countering Terrorism with Justice: A Catholic Response to Policies of Indefinite Detention in the Fight Against Terrorism." When he heard about the men who had been released, he spoke with Kirk about setting up a personal meeting with them.

"I didn't really know what I expected to get out of the trip, but I learned an awful lot about the men, their situation, and their character. They expressed a desire to move on after their captivity, and although they toiled for years in Guantánamo, they did not show any resentment toward their captors. Instead, they spoke about all Americans with gentleness and compassion, asking only that the U.S. act swiftly to release the five Uyghurs who remain imprisoned at Guantánamo."

The time Hansen and his friends spent with the Uyghurs proved to be fun and rewarding, as the men spent time playing soccer and talking about friends, family, and faith. For the four men residing in Bermuda, however, it was only a brief respite from their concerns about relocation.

"The men were offered relocation on Palau, a tiny Pacific island," explained Hansen. "But these men are Muslims, and to ask them to move to a small, unfamiliar place with no other Muslims and little opportunity for work is not a reasonable option. It should be the responsibility of the U.S. to find a suitable country for them."

Washington, D.C. has a strong Uyghur community. However, the United States government feels it will be politically unpopular to allow suspected terrorists to resettle in the U.S. Furthermore, the U.S. refuses to send the men back to China because of the Convention against Torture, which stipulates that a country cannot extradite a person to another country where there are substantial grounds for believing that person would be in danger of being subjected to torture. So for now, the men will remain in Bermuda.

Hansen is grateful for the time he spent in Bermuda, and he is glad that he was able to form a bond with the Uyghur men and learn about their backgrounds and their ordeal. It was his time at SJC, Hansen believes, that allowed him to connect with the men on a deep and personal level.

"The Core Program has had a tremendous impact on my life and played a big role in my knowledge and curiosity of foreign cultures and issues. I took Core 8 twice by choice, which allowed me to learn about Africa and India, giving me more exposure to foreign affairs than most students at Saint Joseph's College. It really helped prepare me for the experience in Bermuda, because I was able to view the situation from multiple perspectives while having the ability to learn about these men and their culture."

It is remarkable to see the capacity for forgiveness the released Uyghurs displayed after being unjustly imprisoned for close to a decade. Until the remaining five Uyghurs are released from Guantánamo, though, the four men in Bermuda will not totally be at peace.

"Our happiness will come when our brothers are out," said Khalil Mamut, 32, one of the Uyghurs in Bermuda. "Whenever I eat, whenever I pray, I think of them intensely." So does Luke Hansen.

Jeremy Kirk, John Bambrick, and Luke Hansen, S.J. '04 in Bermuda.

It's Because of SAINT JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

In your room by 9:00 pm, power off at 11:00 pm. Being a student at Saint Joseph's College in 1960 was an experience unlike anything students in 2010 can relate to, but Joe Reilly '64 wouldn't have had it any other way.

"My life has been wonderful, and it's because of my time at Saint Joseph's College."

It's safe to say, then, that Reilly made the right choice going to SJC instead of the University of Illinois, where a good friend wanted him to join him. Instead, Reilly attended an orientation at SJC with his parents and knew he had found the right place. In September 1960, Joe began his freshman year at SJC. He admits it was tough living, but from the difficult conditions there arose a toughness and camaraderie with his fellow students that are unparalleled in college life today.

"It was quite an experience," said Reilly. "I lived across the street from the College in Drexel Hall, so every morning I had to get up and walk to class. It wasn't much of a pain, but winter was rough. However, experiences like that taught me to bite the bullet and forget the hardships, because the education I received made everything worthwhile."

One similarity between the College of Reilly's time and the more than 1,000 students that attend today is the personal student-teacher interaction that comes with small class sizes.

"The professors were wonderful," said Reilly. "They were smart, personable, and always made it clear they cared about me and every other student as individuals. Being in classes with less than 20 students, everyone had to do their work and do it well or risk getting nailed. There was no skating by at SJC."

After completing the first semester of his senior year, Reilly's time at SJC ended abruptly when he decided to start working. His grades weren't much to admire, and he felt it was time to start earning money. Reilly joined the workforce, but when a high intensity class was offered at Calumet College of St. Joseph in Whiting, Ind., he committed himself to finishing his education and earning his degree in marketing.

Joe Reilly '64 founded Payroll Control Systems in December 1995.

"Earning my degree was the best thing that ever happened to me. It opened so many doors."

The path that led to Reilly's founding of Payroll Control Systems had many stops along the way. In 1969, he joined IBM and worked in the Service Bureau Corporation division. The division was sold to Control Data Corporation in 1973, and they promoted Reilly to Sales Manager in Minneapolis in 1979. In 1986, he was named the company's National Sales Manager in their Independent Sales Organization division. Reilly joined Cap Gemini America, an international consulting organization, as Branch Manager in 1987 and did some independent consulting for a few years before founding Payroll Control Systems in December 1995. As the President of Payroll Control Systems, Reilly oversees a company that provides payroll processing services and human resource management to businesses in all 50 states. Payroll Control Systems currently has offices in Minnesota, Arizona, Wisconsin, and Washington.

Reilly is a board member of the Twin Cities Division of the March of Dimes and past President of Variety Club-The International Children's Charity, and he was named the 2010 TwinWest Chamber of Commerce Entrepreneur of the Year. It was only fitting he received the honor after being named the TwinWest Chamber of Commerce Emerging Entrepreneur of the Year in 1999.

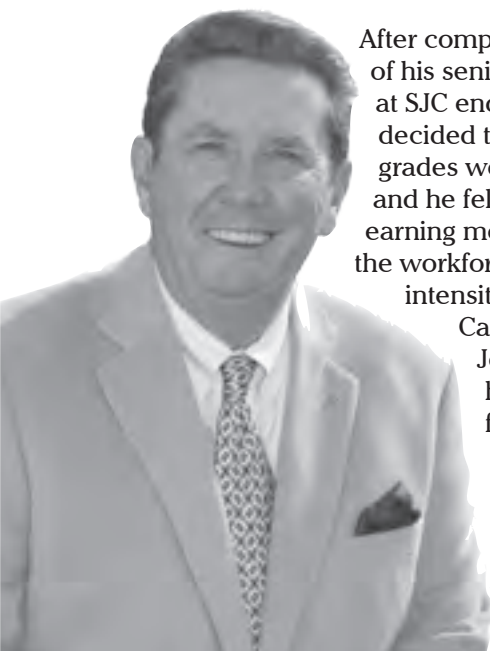

Although he has earned every bit of recognition, Reilly credits his 43 employees for making Payroll Control Systems successful. Reilly and his wife, Patricia, spent a few weeks over the summer traveling through Europe, enjoying such cities as Prague, Vienna, and Amsterdam.

"My staff takes care of everything. It's their hard work and loyalty that allows me to go on vacations and enjoy myself without worrying about the company."

In the end, though, Reilly traces all of his accomplishments back to SJC, where he learned the importance of discipline, resourcefulness (he once pawned his wife's wedding ring to make payroll early in his PCS career), and a liberal arts education.

"At SJC, I learned to see the big picture. I came to college expecting to study marketing, but courses in art, astronomy, and literature gave me a much better and broader understanding of the world around me."

SJC laid the foundation for success, Reilly built on it, and TwinWest Chamber of Commerce rewarded him. However, Reilly's greatest reward is knowing that graduating from SJC has given him a life that has been nothing short of perfect.

An Exercise in Antiquity

On June 26th, six students from Assistant Professor of Physical Education Patricia Query's Exercise Physiology class embarked for Athens, Greece to attend the 6th Annual International Conference on Kinesiology and Exercise Sciences.

Senior Abigail Gazda of Whiting, Ind; Mike Hagen '10 of Chicago, Ill.; Lindsey House '10 of Greenfield, Ind.; senior Alex Makin '11 of Warrawong, Australia; senior Steve Sasak of Oak Lawn, Ill; and Daren Wagner '10 of Weyauwega, Wis. all made the trip. Saint Joseph's College Vice President for Institutional Advancement & Marketing represented Query, who was unable to attend.

The students presented their pilot study, "Effects of a FITT Lunch." FITT stands for frequency, intensity, time, and type of activity. Once the presentations ended, the group was able to tour Greece, including a hike up Acropolis to view the Parthenon. The group also embarked on a cruise from the Port of Piraeus to the islands of Hydra, Poros, and Aegina.

SJC students witnessed history in the making, because at the time, Greece was in the middle of a severe economic crisis. Greek riot police clashed with protesters in Athens during a 24-hour general strike against cost-cutting reforms.

"The islands and the city of Athens were beautiful, and having the chance to give a presentation thousands of miles away in a city with such a famous history was a dream come true."

LEGACY & Spotlight

ZACH CONRAD '14

When I was little, my mom was a Nursing student here and I would sometimes go to classes with her. My favorite part would be going to the pond to “feed the fishies,” as I would say.

Thinking back on that, when I arrived on campus my junior year of high school, I felt an excitement about being in the place that my mother had been and succeeded. I then started looking at other schools as well, but didn't have a good feeling like I did being on this campus.

On subsequent visits to campus, my mom started picking up on my excitement about the programs offered here and how I could get involved. So, with that said, yes...my mother influenced my decision in choosing Saint Joseph's College.

I have immersed myself in the Core Program, and I really think I am off to a good start. When things have been tough, as I know will happen often, I have thought of my mom's motivation and how she made it through and took care of me all at once. If she did it, then, by golly, I can!

When we said goodbye on the first day of Freshman Orientation, I took her to the pond where we fed the fish together so many years earlier. I told her that I know I am going to be just fine. Because of my mom, I will succeed here. She set the bar...and I am going to raise it that much more!

I am a proud Puma legacy.

Zach played a huge part in my decision to attend Saint Joseph's as well! When Zach was a baby of only a few weeks old, I thought, “How am I going to support this precious boy?” Right then and there I knew I was going to be a nurse.

I looked at several nursing programs, but was drawn to Saint Joseph's/St. Elizabeth's because you start patient care on day one. After my first semester at Saint Joseph's, I was going to quit. I spent time talking with Anita Reed and she convinced me to hang on.

Years later, when Zach had his interview for the Presidential Scholarship competition at Saint Joseph's, it was Anita Reed who interviewed him. I had told him this story about Anita and his meeting with her made him even more convinced he was where he was supposed to be.

During my last year while completing my BSN, Zach enjoyed coming with me to Saint Joseph's, as we would always stop to feed the fishies. Whenever school got tough, I would remember my reason for being there. I was there because I had a precious little boy to support and care for. You can see that he influenced me in my career path and was essentially the reason for my choosing Saint Joseph's and the Nursing program. I never knew when I was feeding fishies with my little boy that I would be feeding those fishies 13 years later while visiting him at Saint Joseph's!

Divine CARMODY

Michael Carmody '04 knew he needed to do something for his brother. Developmentally disabled with Down syndrome, John Carmody faced a predicament – when he turned 22, he no longer qualified for the educational and occupational programs that are funded and offered by the public school system. This presented a lot of challenges – most of all in that John would lose the companionship of his classmates who represented the majority of his social interaction. It didn't take long for Michael to tackle the problem and go to bat for his brother.

In response to the dilemma, Michael formed Opportunity Knocks, a nonprofit organization, to “bridge the gap of care and resources for the developmentally disabled.” Michael's efforts have yielded commendable results, and the organization has done exactly what he planned for it to do: give the developmentally disabled and their parents a support system once the critical age of 22 is reached.

“Although it took a lot of blood, sweat, and tears to get started, I had some great people around me who made getting the organization started much easier than it should have been. We formed a board of directors, and my brother Phil stepped up as President of the organization.”

With a service area covering the Chicago suburbs of Oak Park, River Forest, and Forest Park, Opportunity Knocks has given parents and their developmentally disabled sons and daughters a much-needed outlet for furthering their education and social interaction. Learning job and social skills can't end after 21, which Carmody quickly realized in spending time with his brother and his brother's friends at group sessions while growing up. He quickly learned that these were the only opportunities for John to interact with people like him in the same age group, and it was this realization that prompted him to do something for his brother and those in a similar situation.

“Opportunity Knocks supplements shelter workshops such as Aspire and Sequin very well. Those places handle more of the job training while we try to add the recreational aspects. Our goal is to make these people's time at Opportunity Knocks fun while utilizing an ever-changing curriculum.”

The founding and growth of Opportunity Knocks is largely the result of SJC alumni and the impact SJC had on Michael, who refers to the organization as a “Puma thing.” Michael's father, John Carmody '68, is an SJC alumnus, and John's college roommate, Quinn Mucker '68, is the accountant for Opportunity Knocks. John is a member of the Opportunity Knocks board of directors and finance committee, and Tim Clark '02 serves on the board of directors. Charles Carmody '98 is on the finance committee, and Jamie Holden '04, Colin Carmody '06,

The faces of Opportunity Knocks.

Mike Carmody '04

and Kristyn Corley '05 serve on the Opportunity Knocks auxiliary board of directors. Anne Niemiec '01 and Stan Niemiec '05 both volunteer at Opportunity Knocks.

"There are a few professors at SJC that pushed me in the right direction, who helped me realize the kind of person I wanted to be. Dr. Tom Ryan '70, Associate Professor of Education, was an excellent teacher and mentor, and I was and still am very close with Fr. Tim McFarland, C.P.S. '78. He was the priest who presided over my brother Charles' wedding ceremony, and he is also going to preside over another of my brother's upcoming wedding."

Michael also began the KG Classic in memory of lifelong friend and SJC alumna Kathy Garrigan '05, who died in a boating accident on Harding Lake near Fairbanks, Alaska at the age of 24. She and Michael went through grade school, middle school, high school, and college together. On Saturday, September 25, the event was held for the fourth consecutive year in Forest Park, Ill. The KG Classic is a one-day, 20 team co-ed softball tournament meant to honor Kathy while raising money and awareness for the causes she held closest to her heart. This year, all proceeds from the Classic went to Opportunity Knocks.

Mike '04 and Phil Carmody at the KG Classic.

"Kathy was a great friend of mine, and she always treated John so well," said Michael. "The KG Classic is a way to keep her memory alive."

Opportunity Knocks continues to receive support from the SJC community, specifically from

Associate Professor of Management and Marketing Teresa Massoels' '89 Sales and Marketing Management class. The last three years, the class has had to market, develop, sell, and deliver "Puma Poppers," which are chocolate covered balls of peanut butter. The class then selects various organizations and causes they would like to support with the profits. Massoels invited Michael and his brother, Colin, to speak to the class about Opportunity Knocks. Accompanied by a matching grant from an SJC alumnus, the class ultimately selected Opportunity Knocks and sent a check for $1,350 to the Carmody brothers.

"That's the great thing about SJC," said Michael. "I never had Professor Massoels as a teacher, yet here she is, along with her class, inviting Colin and me to come down and speak and later on sending us a check. You meet people at SJC that you come to know for a lifetime, and there is always someone you can call for anything."

Dumas to Remember from a

When people hear about third world living conditions, their minds usually wander to destitute villages in foreign countries. Dirt roads, no running water, no police force, and little to no income are necessities that most Americans take for granted. It is surprising to some, then, to find out that a few years ago these types of conditions could be found in less than an hour's drive from Saint Joseph's College. Chantel '11 and Sadé '10 Johnson can tell you all about life in Hopkins Park, Ill., but the real story is how they overcame the hardships inherent in living there. One an SJC graduate and the other a determined senior following suit, Chantel and Sadé are fighting what some might see as a losing battle. To hear their story, it's clear they have already won.

In Hopkins Park, Ill., many of the residents have settled on the fact that their town has essentially been forgotten. A 2002 New York Times story declaring the area one of the poorest in the country brought to light the horrendous living conditions the residents faced, and a visit from Oprah Winfrey for a 2005 special episode of her show clarified that little had changed. Unfortunately, neither the article nor Oprah facilitated any significant improvements. In describing the town as it was during her childhood, Sadé painted a picture of a desolate, emaciated neighborhood left to die by the state of Illinois.

"For a long time there were no businesses or shops, and almost all the roads were unpaved," said Sadé. "Many citizens were without running water, and people would have to drive 30 minutes to get gas."

Today, the situation in Pembroke Township, which incorporates Hopkins Park, is somewhat improved. In 2009, the township was assigned its own zip code, ensuring it would receive some tax revenues. However, Hopkins Park remains without a police force and bared the brunt of a devastating tornado in early June. The Chicago Tribune reports that the average household income in the area is $14,000, about $35,000 below the Illinois state average. Despite the hardships that come with living in Hopkins Park, Sadé plans to return. She has seen people from her town find success and never look back, but she doesn't want to leave Hopkins Park in the rearview mirror.

"Being involved with Habitat for Humanity at SJC, I had the chance to go to other towns like Hopkins Park and work on houses for needy families," said Sadé, who went on Habitat trips to North Carolina and Mississippi along with Chantel. "When those people see others giving their time and effort to give them a better life, it helps change their outlook and gives them hope."

Standing behind Sadé and Chantel always is their grandmother, a retired factory worker, whom they live with along with their father.

"She's been a very big role model for us," said Sadé. "She taught us to reach for our dreams and always remember where we came from."

Chantel agreed, saying, "Our grandma really pushed us in school. In her house, C's are failing, B's are average, and A's are expected."

Sadé '10 and Chantel '11 Johnson.

FORGOTTEN TOWN

An abandoned home on a flooded street in Hopkins Park, one of the poorest towns in the state of Illinois.

Despite their good grades in high school, the sisters knew they wouldn't be able to afford full tuition to college. However, they were determined to continue their education. Sadé attended a college fair in nearby Bourbonnais, where she was introduced to SJC by former Admissions Counselor Greg Rathnow '04. Greg convinced her to visit campus, and she fell in love with it. She competed for the Presidential Scholarship and ultimately earned an Honors Scholarship, sealing her ticket into SJC. Chantel also competed for the Presidential Scholarship the following year before receiving an Honors Scholarship as well.

"After visiting SJC when Sadé first came to compete for the Presidential Scholarship, I knew it was where I belonged, too," said Chantel. "I love the family atmosphere here and the small class sizes, and I know I'm in the right place."

Since graduating, Sadé spent her summer studying for the Medical College Admission Test (MCAT), which she took on Friday, September 3. She is applying to Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn. After graduation, Chantel will consider teaching at Lorenzo R. Smith

Elementary School, which she attended, in Hopkins Park. However, the school's enrollment is dangerously low. She is also mulling over an internship at Waycross Episcopal Camp in Morgantown, Ind., where she spent the last three summers as a camp counselor. As was the case in school, Chantel and Sadé expect to find success around every corner of their bright future. They also know that going to college is an attainable goal for anyone regardless of where they live.

"If the cost of going to college is an issue, work hard for a scholarship, apply for grants, and talk to people who might be able to help you," said Chantel. "Communicate with people at the college or university you are interested in and find out about the ways they can assist you."

While Hopkins Park continues to fight for improvements, two of its daughters are flourishing. Their unassuming manner and lighthearted, bubbly personalities resonate as reminders that finding happiness and success depends on how you face adversity. When you see Chantel and Sadé smile, you understand how they've approached it.

Zegarac Taken in 42nd Round of 2009 MLB DRAFT

The Saint Joseph's College baseball program has produced a number of Major League Baseball amateur draft selections during the tenure of head coach Rick O'Dette '99. Shane Zegarac '08, one of the more recent, was taken in the 42nd round of the MLB draft in 2009.

Zegarac just completed a solid season with the Single-A Bakersfield Blaze, where he made 34 appearances and finished with a 2-1 record in a relief role. In 38.2 innings of work, Zegarac struck out 24 while walking 15. His consistent performance during the season earned Zegarac a call-up from Double-A affiliate Frisco to finish the season. The RoughRiders, who qualified for the playoffs, included Zegarac on their playoff roster.

"No matter where I have played, I have always wanted to win," said Zegarac. "Unlike my time at Saint Joseph's, in affiliated baseball you play 140 games plus spring training. One realizes that, although you play everyday, winning is not likely. In both college and professional baseball, team chemistry plays a big role in winning consistently. Considering all the games I've played, I still feel I have kept the same intensity throughout this past season as I did in college. However, the overlapping similarity is that a pitcher still has to throw strikes."

The travel and rigors of professional baseball have not worn on Zegarac as he still keeps his opportunity in perspective.

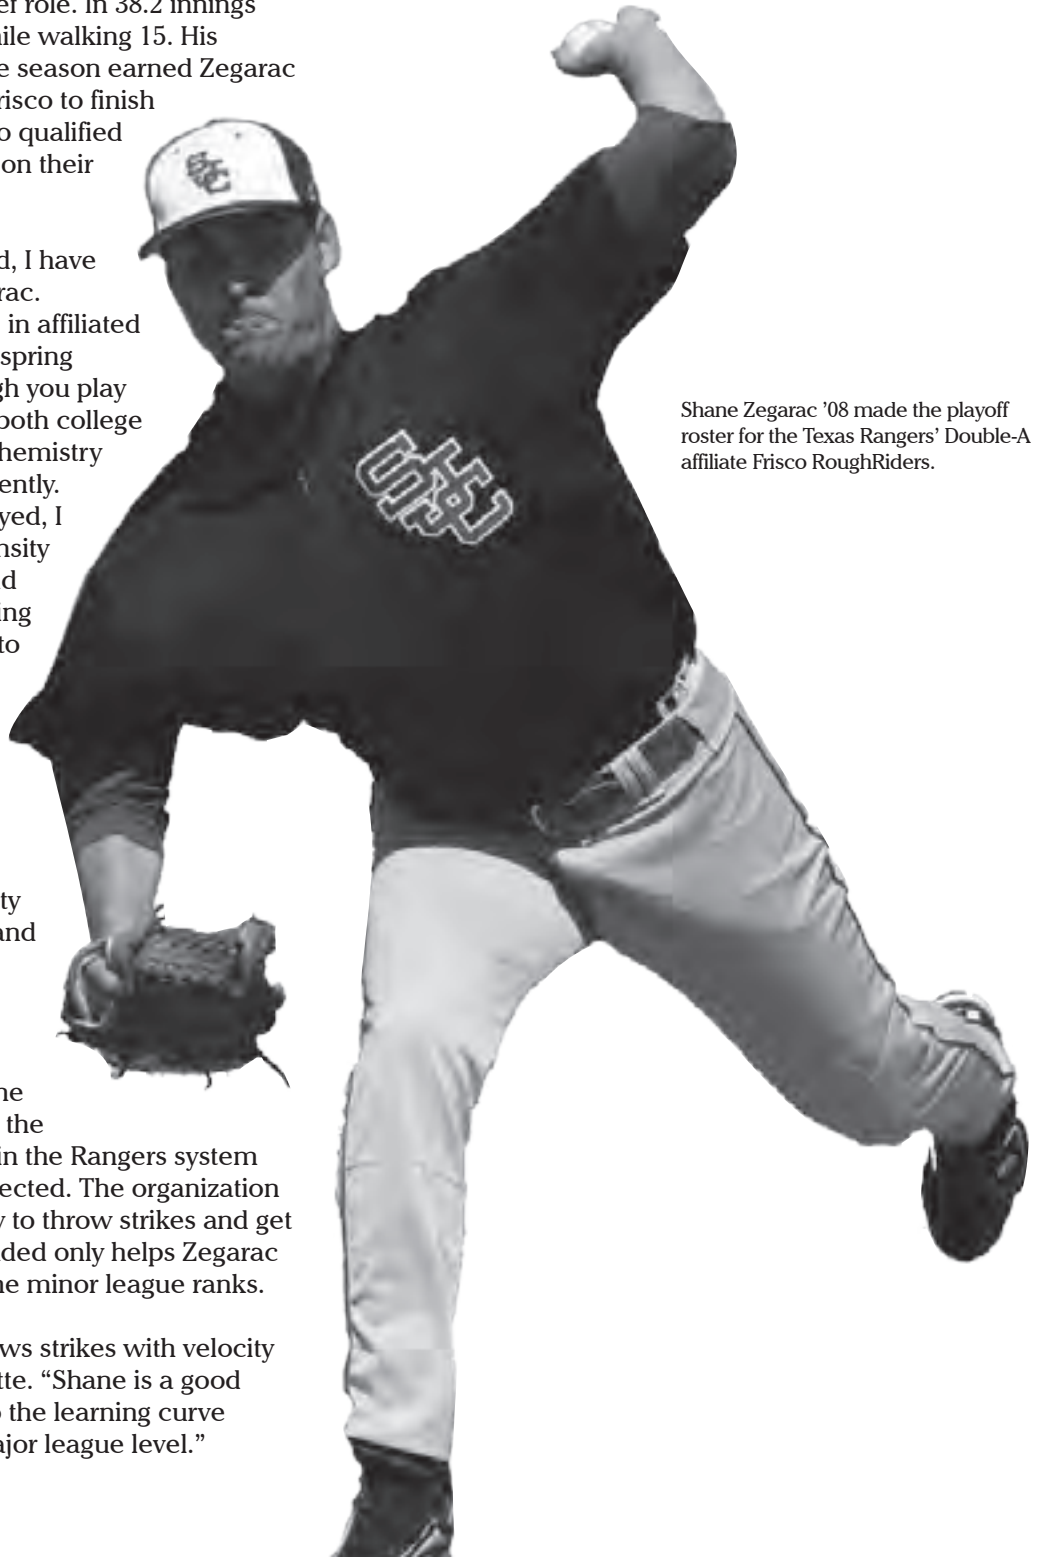

"When you have the opportunity to be around the game everyday and be given the chance to travel and explore new parts of the country, what is there not to like?"

Although Zegarac faced only one hitter and did not record an out in the playoffs, with less than two years in the Rangers system he has progressed faster than expected. The organization seems comfortable with his ability to throw strikes and get outs in tough spots. Being left-handed only helps Zegarac in his quest to move up through the minor league ranks.

"A left-handed pitcher that throws strikes with velocity is an MLB commodity," said O'Dette. "Shane is a good pitcher with the ability to adjust to the learning curve needed to be successful at the major league level."

Linked in the same draft of 2009, Mike Pericht was selected in the 16th round by the Los Angeles Dodgers. Playing primarily for the Class-A Ogden Raptors of the Pioneer League, Pericht hit .278 with nine home runs and 38 RBIs. The Raptors, located in Ogden, Utah, finished the 2010 campaign 44-31. The Dodgers then promoted Pericht to the instructional league in Arizona for the fall, which is reserved for the top prospects in the organization.

Shane Zegarac '08 made the playoff roster for the Texas Rangers' Double-A affiliate Frisco RoughRiders.

Two Track Members Become ALL-AMERICANS

Kaleb Thompson '12 (Jr., Frankfort, Ind./Frankfort) and Alexis DeJean '11 (Sr., Brownsburg, Ind./Brownsburg) of the Saint Joseph's College outdoor track and field team became All-Americans in May at the NCAA National Championships in Charlotte, North Carolina. Thompson and DeJean are the 17th and 18th members of the SJC track program to achieve All-American status under head coach Bill Massoels '89.

Thompson, competing in his first NCAA Championships, was seeded 12 in the shot put, but on his fourth attempt of the day improved his mark and SJC record to 56 feet, 10.75 inches to finish eighth. The top eight finishers in each event earn All-American accolades.

DeJean competed in two events over the course of the championships and finished sixth in the shot put with a mark of 47 feet, 2.5 inches. Through her first five attempts DeJean was ranked ninth, but she unleashed the best mark of her career on the final attempt to become an All-American. The mark also improved DeJean's SJC record in the process.

"It is always a great experience going to the NCAA finals," said head coach Bill Massoels, who coached in his 36th NCAA Championships. "Alexis got a taste of things during the indoor season, and she utilized that experience to become an All-American this spring. To be able to produce the best marks of the season on the biggest stage is something Alexis and Kaleb can both take pride in."

During the indoor season, DeJean and Melissa Buche (Sr., Lowell, Ind./Lowell) traveled to Albuquerque, New Mexico to compete in the Indoor Championships. DeJean, a 2010 All-GLVC First Team selection, finished 11th in the shot put with a mark of 45 feet, 7.5 inches. She also finished 12th in the weight throw with a mark of 51 feet, 5.5 inches.

Buche finished fifth in the high jump to become a two-time All-American in the event. Her mark of 5 feet, 7.25 inches was just shy of the eventual championship mark of 5 feet, 8.5 inches.

Alexis DeJean '11 placed 11th in the shot put last season at the Indoor Championships in Albuquerque, N.M.

Kaleb Thompson '12 was named an All-American last season after placing eighth in the shot put at the NCAA National Championships.

Boerema Obtains POST-SEASON ACCOLADES

Brittnie Boerema '13 (So., Manhattan, Ill./Lincoln-Way Central) of the Saint Joseph's College softball team picked up several post-season accolades in May 2010 as she was named to the Louisville Slugger/National Fastpitch Coaches Association All-American Second Team. She also was previously voted to the Daktronics, Inc. All-American Third Team by the NCAA Division II sports information directors.

Boerema completed a dominating season with a Great Lakes Valley Conference leading .471 batting average, tenth best in the nation. Boerema's 22 doubles led the GLVC, while her .46 doubles per game was good for sixth in the NCAA.

Last season, Boerema led the GLVC in slugging percentage (.706), on base percentage (.506), hits (74), and total bases (107). She also showcased a .996 fielding percentage behind the plate, while her six home runs and 39 RBIs also ranked second on the team.

Boerema also broke SJC single-season records in batting average (.471), slugging percentage (.752), hits (74), doubles (22), on-base percentage (.503), runs scored (41), and total bases (118).

Brittnie Boerema '13 set an SJC single season record with a .471 batting average last season.

Baseball Honored with ALL-REGION SELECTIONS

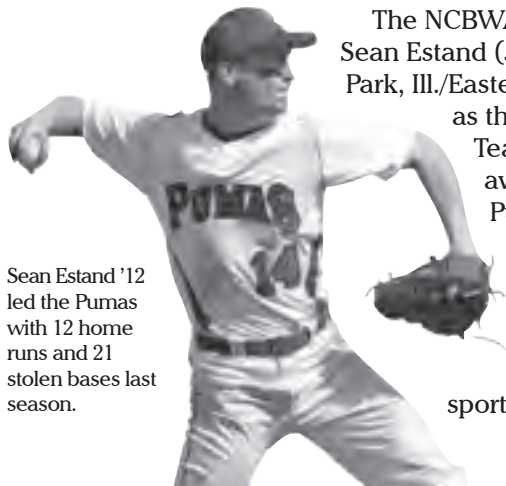

The National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association (NCBWA) announced in May that Sean Estand '12 and Eric Panick '12 of the Saint Joseph's College baseball team were honored with All-Region selections. Estand was selected to the NCBWA's All-Region First Team while Panick took Second Team honors.

The NCBWA selection of Sean Estand (Jr., Evergreen Park, Ill./Eastern Illinois) came as the fourth First Team post-season award for the Pumas' shortstop. During the spring, Estand was named by the Midwest Region's sports information directors to the Daktronics, Inc. All-Region Team and American Baseball Coaches Association All-Region Team. Estand was also named to the All-GLVC First Team by the league's head coaches.

Estand finished the season batting .347 with a team leading 12 home runs and 59 RBIs. He also led the team with a .611 slugging percentage and 21 stolen bases in 24 attempts. His totals in home runs and runs batted in finished among the top four in the Great Lakes Valley Conference.

Like Estand, Eric Panick (So., Chicago, Ill./St. Rita) was selected to the Second Team four times from the same associations in the month of May. The most recent was the NCBWA Second Team honors Panick received after completing a dominating year out of the SJC bullpen. He finished the season with a 4-1 record and a 1.38 ERA. In 39 innings of work, Panick struck out 42 hitters while opponents managed a mere .163 batting average against him.

Sean Estand '12 led the Pumas with 12 home runs and 21 stolen bases last season.

Honor Roll of Donors

In the pages that follow, you will find the 2010 Honor Roll of Donors listing the College's supporters from July 1, 2009 through June 30, 2010. As always, we are grateful for the generous support of our alumni, parents, and friends who have given so generously in support of the College.

SJC has been honored in significant ways this year. First, the College received two very generous gifts of an anonymous $10 million pledge and the bequest of 7,634 acres of farmland by the late Juanita Waugh. The $10 million pledge will come to SJC as $1 million a year for 10 years. The gift of farmland by Ms. Waugh has a value of $40 million, but must remain as farmland. The annual income generated from the farm real estate and windmills will provide scholarships to students in memory of Ms. Waugh. Both of these gifts will have a significant impact on endowment and scholarships. Gifts such as these are one more step toward helping families make an SJC education both affordable and accessible in these challenging times.

The College was also named in the top 25 best colleges in the Midwest, as well as a Top 10 "Best Value" Midwestern College by US News & World Report. Both monumental gifts and national accolades are a testament to the tremendous work that takes place at Saint Joseph's College. This work would not be possible without your continued annual contributions of time, talent, and treasure to SJC.

Thanks to the many contributors who joined in our fundraising efforts this year – whether in support of the College Fund, the 21st Century Campaign, or numerous other projects and funds. In the end, it's all about support of Saint Joseph's College.

If, by our error, your name did not get listed – we offer our apologies and ask that you contact us at 800.227.1898 or e-mail collegefund@saintjoe.edu.

All the best,

Nicholas T. Schafer '03
College Fund Director

FACULTY Notes

David E. Dixon, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Political Science, compiled the second edition of the U.S. Foreign Policy Reader from Pearson's Among Nations article collection, April 2010. The reader includes a one-semester student subscription to the journal Foreign Affairs. During May-August 2010, he refereed five manuscripts for the journal Sociology of Religion. Dixon completed biocritical headnotes for sermons by Adam Beittel, Charles Gomillion, Charles Diggs, Edward Allison Cahill, Joseph Armstrong Delaine, John Wesley Durr, James Farmer, Ralph Bunche, William Hodding Carter, Jr., Clarence Jordan, Reinhold Niehbur, Samuel Proctor, and Vincent Gordon Harding. Research for these headnotes includes genealogical research to identify and approach family members who own the currently unpublished intellectual property. Dixon attended panels on religious movements and political parties at the American Political Science Association annual meeting in Washington, D.C., September 2-5, 2010.

Fr. Kevin Scalf, C.PPS., was the retreat director for women religious at the University of St. Mary of the Lake/Mundelein Seminary in Mundelein, Illinois. The retreat was entitled "Theology and Spirituality of Selected Texts within the Sermon on the Mount." Scalf was also the retreat director for men at the Marydale Retreat Center in Northern Kentucky. The retreat was entitled "Biblical Portraits of Masculine Spirituality." He was the conference presenter for the Northwest Indiana University Leadership Consortium, entitled "Nosce te Ipsum."

Ilicia J. Sprey, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History and Dean of Freshmen, wrote "East Meets West: Contemporary Classroom Challenges in Teaching Cambodian History in World History Courses," Teachers Across Borders/World History Association. Her paper will be published in the Journal of World History. Sprey reviewed "Daily Life in the Mongol Empire" by George Lane for Sixteenth Century Journal (2010). Sprey was a reviewer for the Department of Education TRIO-SSS grants, Washington, D.C., March 2010, and a reviewer for the Advanced Placement World History Examinations in summer 2010.

Karen Venditti, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Education, spoke at the International Reading Association 23rd World Congress on Reading in Auckland, New Zealand. The World Congress focused on the theme "Leading and Learning in Literacy." Venditti's presentation, "Put Your Nose in a Book," explained how politicians, schools, businesses and more have joined forces in northwest Indiana to promote community literacy via a red nose initiative for the annual "Time Out For Reading" event held each October. Venditti serves on the board of the Northwest Indiana Literacy Coalition and is involved in the International Reading Association.

William A. White, Ph.D., Professor of History, was a reader for the ninth year of Advanced Placement U.S. History essays for the Educational Testing Service June 1-8 in Louisville, Kentucky. White was nominated and served as a participant in a national study conducted by the Educational Policy Improvement Center that was designed to evaluate the Common Core Standards, which have been recently adopted by more than 30 states.

Lana Zimmer, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Education, presented a paper at the American Association for the Advancement of Curriculum Studies Annual Conference in Denver, Colorado, April 27-29, 2010, entitled "The Power of Place: Confronting the Crisis of Global Sustainability through Critical Place-Based Curriculum." Zimmer attended the American Educational Research Association's Annual Meeting in Denver, Colorado, April 30-May 4, 2010. This year's theme was "Understanding Complex Ecologies in a Changing World." Zimmer participated in a Pre-AERA seminar entitled "EcoJustice and Environmental Educators in Conversation" on April 30, 2010.

CLASS Notes

James A. Bruha '55 served in the USMC, received his M.A. from DePaul, taught high school in the Chicago area, entered foreign service, and served in embassies in Libya, Tunisia, Congo, Madagascar, Romania, and Greece. James and his wife, Marge, are celebrating 54 years together. They have 3 children and 4 grandsons. "Life is still an adventure."

William B. Krantz '61 retired from teaching in the Department of Chemical and Biological Engineering at the University of Colorado in 1999 and again retired from teaching in the Department of Chemical and Materials Engineering at the University of Cincinnati in 2005. From 2005-2008, he was the Isaac M. Meyer Chair Professor in the Department of Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering at the National University of Singapore. In 2008, he joined the Singapore Membrane Technology Center in the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at Nanyang Technological University. He is looking forward to attending the 50th reunion of his class in 2011.

Mike Thoele '63 has been appointed interim publisher of The Oregon Daily Emerald, an independent student newspaper, while a national search for a permanent publisher is conducted. "All of us on the team have had valued mentoring relationships with Emerald staffers over a period of years. For each of us, this is an opportunity to give back to the Emerald as an independent campus voice and to the university as an institution." Thoele is the former owner and publisher of community newspapers in Junction City and Veneta, Oregon. He worked 24 years as a Register-Guard reporter and editor and taught University of Oregon journalism courses as an adjunct professor since 1974. During four decades as a reporter, editor, and publisher, he won scores of honors—among them two first-place national medical journalism awards and more than 40 awards for feature, news, business, and editorial writing from the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association. He obtained his bachelor's degree in Journalism from SJC.

Joseph Reilly, Jr. '64 accepted the Entrepreneur of the Year Award from the TwinWest Chamber of Commerce, Minnesota. Joe realized that the discipline, resourcefulness, and well-rounded liberal arts education he received from SJC is key to his business and personal success. Joe's company, Payroll Control Systems, is a leading provider of payroll, timekeeping, and human resource management solutions in the Upper Midwest and the largest independently owned business of its kind in Minnesota. His company is the only Better Business Bureau A+ rated payroll service company in Minnesota. In 1999, he received the Emerging Entrepreneur of the Year Award.

Frank D. Spaziano '69, who passed away in 2008, had the Laurel Hill Avenue Elementary School in Providence, R.I. dedicated to his memory. The school is now known as the Frank D. Spaziano Elementary School and Annex. Throughout Frank's 29 years in the Providence School District, he gave untiringly of himself, demonstrated outstanding leadership qualities, and was committed to the children of Providence. As a central administrator, Frank's humanity, mentorship, and guidance with clerks, teacher assistants, teachers, and principals were legendary and exemplify his leadership abilities. He was a warm and approachable man, beloved by everyone who knew him.

Michael J. Georgeson '69 will celebrate 25 years at Caesars Palace, Las Vegas, Nev. as an Executive Casino Host.

James L. Weidner '70, CEO of The Cooperative of American Physicians, Inc., has been elected chair of the Physician Insurers Association of America (PIAA), a leading trade association representing domestic and international medical professional liability insurance companies owned and/or operated by physicians, hospitals, dentists, and other health care providers. Jim has been on the PIAA board since 2002, most recently serving as the association's Vice Chair. In his new role as Chair, he will have general oversight of the business of the association, and supervision of the other officers of the board, as well as the President of the association.

Louis W. Yuen '74 has retired from teaching after being a music educator for 36 years. Just prior to retiring, Louis received the 2010 Outstanding Music Educator honor for the Central Section from the California Music Educators Association in Sacramento, Calif. Louis definitely retired on a high note.

John Flach '75 is a professor and chair of Psychology at Wright State University, Dayton, Ohio, where he teaches and does research on human performance in complex technical systems. In addition, John also manages a portfolio of university-wide programs directed at learning for students with disabilities. This includes an interdisciplinary Ph.D. program on technology-based learning with disabilities and the Ohio STEM Abilities Alliance that is intended to improve academic success in STEM fields for undergraduate students with disabilities. Both programs are supported by funds from the National Science Foundation. John also has a long history of collaborations with the Air Force Research Laboratory to study training and interface design issues for Air Force Systems. John is co-author with Kevin Bennett of the book Display and Interface Design: Subtle Science and Exact Art, which is due to be published by Taylor and Francis later this year. He also is co-author of the book Control Theory for Humans, which was published in 2005. John and his wife Linnea have three sons and had their first grandson in September. Linnea continues to teach 6th grade at St. Luke's School in Beavercreek, Ohio.

Sr. Barbara Ann Smelko, S.C. '79 is Vocation Director of the Seton International House in Chicago after five years of ministering at St. James. She will reach out to the people of Chicago in sharing the vocational call to religious life. Sister Barbara's ministry in Chicago began 7/12/10.

Roger G. Robins '80 is an American Studies Specialist teaching in the English Department at the University of Tokyo. He has a book coming out from Praeger publishing called Pentecostalism in America. Please visit www.greenwood.com or www.amazon.com for more information. A quote from Roger: "SJC was just the right place for me, and the professors I had there made an enormous contribution to my development as a person and as a scholar."

Martin E. Maher '82 was promoted to Consultant - Specialist Network Security Engineer at Kaiser Permanente.

Brian Studebaker '92 is the Director of Admissions at Spring Hill College in Mobile, Ala., where he oversees the processes for undergraduate and graduate admissions.

Sidnie Wilder, daughter of Deren '94 and Karen Jung Wilder '94 and granddaughter of SJC Fellow Gail Evans, received a bronze medal in the hammer throw at the Junior Olympic Track and Field Championships in California.

Jason M. Quigg '97 finished his 11th year as the varsity boys' basketball coach at River Forest High School in Hobart, Ind. The team finished the season 15-7, which tied the record for the second most wins in school history. Quigg was also named the Greater South Shore Conference Coach of the Year. He works as a guidance counselor at the school and is the head coach of the boys' golf team.

Jessica Pitstick '02 obtained her master's degree in Management from Indiana Wesleyan.

Luke Hansen '04, along with two other Catholics, returned from a pilgrimage to Bermuda where they visited with former Guantanamo prisoners and sought relationships and reconciliation with the men.

Amanda Barnhart Senac '05 graduated from Indiana University School of Optometry on 5/7/10.

Sarah Wright '10 accepted a position with the Portage School Corporation as a General Music Teacher at Fegely Middle School.

DREXEL HALL MEMORIES

Drexel alumni are posting some memories on the online forum. You can check it out at "Forums" on the alumni website.

In the fall of 1957, my parents drove me to Saint Joseph's College to start what were to be some of the best years of my life. Upon registering, we learned that I was to be assigned to Drexel Hall, and until that moment, we didn't even know it existed.

When we toured campus the previous spring, none of our guides took us across the road to see Drexel—it wasn't exactly a "selling point."

When we saw the place for the first time, that late August day, and learned that I was to be in a three-man room, I don't know whether I was more upset or my parents were. I learned many years later that my parents had a heated discussion as to whether they were going to leave me there or take me back home to Chicago. Perhaps one of the best decisions my parents ever made raising me was to leave me to fend for myself in the "godforsaken dorm across the road from everything else."

My time in Drexel with my terrific roommates and fellow Drexel Pumas may have helped form a sense of team, brotherhood, and true loyalty that I would never have learned in any other dorm on any other college campus. I can say without any doubt that Drexel Hall helped form men, citizens, and leaders—and it was only a building...or was it?

—Frank Caccamo '61

Many Pumas attended the Todd '03 and Jennifer Frankowski Huff '03 wedding.

Duane C. Marks '99 has been hired as an associate by the law firm Baker & Daniels LLP.

ENGAGEMENTS

Katie Davet '04 to John-Paul Simkus. The wedding is planned for October 2012.

Scott Smolek '05 to Jeri Jozwiak. The wedding is planned for October 2011, and the wedding party will include Mike Stawski '06, Zac Erb '06, Tony Cunningham '06, Sean McBride '05, Melissa Rind Stawski '07, and Rick O'Dette '99.
